

Alta Reviews

2007 `For Elsie' Pinot Noir Rosé

Sally Gudgeon

Topped with a screwcap, this medium dry rosé from the Adelaide Hills is a gorgeous summer drink. Made from 100 per cent pinot noir, it has lots of varietal character - cherries, strawberries and a lick of spice. It's beautifully textured wine with lots of fruit in the mouth.

Sally Gudgeon
Qantas Magazine
January 2008

Ben Canaider

Lean into things with some soft rosé, such as Alta For Elsie ($20). This is quality Adelaide Hills rosé for grown-ups - dry yet nicely berried, and complex.

Ben Canaider
Delicious Magazine
December 2007/January 2008

Sally Gudgeon & Ralph Kyte Powell

This pinot noir rosé from the Adelaide Hills is sweeter than the bone-dry style made last vintage. It's a real crowd-pleaser with its bright summer berry fruit flavours and luscious texture.

Food: Spicy Asian dishes. Drink now.

Rating: 4 stars
Sally Gudgeon & Ralph Kyte Powell
Epicure Uncorked - The Age Newspaper
18 November, 2007

Ralph Kyte Powell

Although this pink wine from the Adelaide Hills has a pretty label, the wine is quite serious. The nose has light red fruit aromas that are pleasantly vinous and the palate has good intensity and texture. There's just a whisper of fruit sweetness, but it's a lot drier than most competition.

Rating: 4 stars
Ralph Kyte Powell, The Age Epicure
4 December, 2007